Dahlias
and Gladiolus

1927

D. W. PECKHAM

MIDDLEFIELD
CONNECTICUT

To My Friends and Customers

I hand you with pleasure my 1927 catalogue, and in this way can thank you for your kind patronage last season, and trust you were pleased with, bulbs, or tubers purchased from me.

Both the Gladiolus, and Dahlias, did splendidly, and those of you who did not see them in bloom in my garden, missed a treat.

At the Connecticut Gladiolus Show, at Hartford on Labor Day, among 10,000 or more spikes of the Gladiolus, which were on exhibition (and there were some good ones) I won 14 awards, 7 firsts and 7 seconds, and I exhibited in 18 classes only. At Durham, in 5 classes (both Dahlias and Gladiolus) I won 3 firsts, and 2 seconds, and won the Silver cup scoring the highest number of points. At Portland 5 firsts, in 5 classes entered.

You will find quite a few new varieties, both in Dahlias and Gladiolus, in this list, which of course, are an improvement over some of the older varieties.

I have a great many varieties, I am not listing, account insufficient stock, and if you saw, or took the names of any from the garden, that are not listed, I will gladly give you any information concerning them.

I extend you an invitation to come, and see the blooms during the season.

Terms

The descriptions contained herein, are given to the best of my ability, and we must make certain allowances for variation, caused by different soil, and climatic conditions.

I guarantee all stock true to name, and have at least one living eye, when shipped, and anything found otherwise, will be gladly replaced, money refunded, or stock furnished to the amount of that untrue, but in no case will I be liable for a sum greater than the purchase price.

Send in your orders early. This insures your getting what you want, as late orders have to be returned, which of course causes disappointment. I guarantee satisfaction, and if this is not the case when you receive your order, let me know at once.

I ship any time after April 1st by parcel post prepaid. Stock should be unpacked promptly, and kept in a cool place until ready to plant. Dahlias should be covered with dry earth, or sand, to keep from withering.

I will not substitute unless you so specify. My stock is all field grown, healthy and free from disease.

One dozen bulbs, at ten times the price of one, six at the dozen rate.

Blooms

Blooms of the Gladiolus, and Dahlias for sale during the season, which is about July 1st, until frost, which can be had by the dozen, hundred, or thousand. These blooms are cut from some of the choicest varieties grown, both plain petaled, and ruffled.

Visitors are always welcome to my garden, which is located in the center of Middlefield, seven miles from Meriden, six miles from Middletown, and about eight minutes' walk, from the Middletown-Middlefield trolley.

Make it a point to visit the garden this summer, you don't have to buy, or order, we will be only too glad to show, and tell you anything we can about these wonderful flowers.

GLADIOLUS

These are even more easily to grow and less care than the Dahlia, and may be planted anytime after danger of frost is over, and will bloom in from 75 to 90 days from planting. They will do well in any soil, but best in light, or somewhat sandy conditions, with full sunlight, and four or five inches deep, three inches apart. I use bone meal but you will get good results from any commercial fertilizer. Manure from the animal is apt to make your bulbs scabby unless put on your ground and spaded or ploughed in the fall previous. This is really all the care other than to keep them well cultivated. Stake or run wires to support them. If you want them for house decoration, cut spike soon as it shows color (but be sure and leave at least four leaves for the bulb to mature), change water, and you have a flower which lasts a week. Dig about October 15th and let dry in sun for four or five hours, cut off tops close to bulb and in about two weeks break off the old shell, which forms on bottom, and save the little corns to plant another year, many of them which will bloom in two years. Store in boxes or bags in cellar. Keep from freezing.

DAHLIAS

may be planted from May 15th to June 15th in a sunny location, away from roots of trees or shrubs, in a light or sandy soil (if your soil is heavy mix in one-third coal ashes, or sand), five or six inches deep, and three or four feet apart. Lay the tuber flat in the hill, eye up, cover carefully with an inch or so of soil, then a handful of well rotted manure, boen meal, or pulverized sheep manure, being careful not to let the fertilizer come in contact with the tuber (especially the eye). Fill in with soil to within about two inches from level. After the plant is five or si x inches high fill in even. Strong stakes, at least five feet long, should be used to support the plant. (Drive your stakes before planting.) The most important of all is to keep your ground well cultivated, free from weeds, and never allow it to harden, or bake. Work a little fertilizer around the plant once in a while during the blooming season, and about the middle of August an application of liquid manure (not too strong) will benefit your flowers greatly. Keep the blooms cut, and if you want large flowers, disbud freely. This appears rather hard treatment, but is necessary to have good blooms. After the frost has killed the tops, cut the stalk off about one inch from ground, and dig carefully. Turn the clump bottom side up, and allow it to dry in the sun for four or five hours. Be careful not to break off the tubers from the stalk as they are worthless if detached, as the eye starts from the stal kand not tubers the following Spring. Store in a cellar where you would keep potatoes, and cover with papers to keep from drying up.
